

The impacts of recent floods and planned recovery works were the focus of an East Gippsland Catchment Management Authority (EGCMA) staff and board tour last week. Craig Parker, EGCMA acting chief executive officer, and Becky Hemming, program manager, led the trip, which included Lake Tyers to discuss the roles and responsibilities of various agencies in estuary management. The group visited the Nowa Nowa boat ramp, Lake Tyers boat ramp and the Lake Tyers estuary entrance. The heavy rainfall had opened the lake naturally to the sea on July 7. The group also covered several sites along the Buchan River. (PS)
